Summary

Transportation procurement teams made great strides in 2022 and should be proud! Now 2023 is upon us and that means it's time for new priorities, new challenges, and new solutions for transportation agencies.

In the last couple of months, many in public procurement defined their goals for the coming year and began planning how to tackle them. To learn more, we surveyed Bonfire's database of public procurement professionals to determine what their priorities are, what challenges they face, what strategies they're using, and which tools they have in their arsenal.

Join us on February 7th to discover what goals and strategies your peers are setting and how you can leverage these insights to achieve procurement excellence in 2023.

In this webinar, we will cover:

- A look at current strategies, challenges, and opportunities in public procurement
- The top 3 emerging priorities for 2023

- New strategies, tools, and perspectives to help transportation agencies achieve these priorities

We look forward to seeing you there!
